Breaking News

The 2011 Artivist Film Festival in Los Angeles has been rescheduled to be held August 18-20 at the Egyptian Theater in Hollywood. These dates represent a change from the July 8-10 dates. The venue will remain the same.

The Artivist Film Festival reports that the date change is necessitated by unforeseen logistics. The Festival has extended a sincere apology for any inconvenience this date change may have caused.

Please be sure you are subscribed for updates through the Saving America's Horses website or blog. We will be sending out an announcement as soon as we know more details.

Thank you for your support and understanding.

For the horses and burros~

Sincerely,

Katia Louise
